“This conference will be an excellent method of getting the information out about your products and services. I have had many great experiences with the attendees and vendors that service the Georgia 911 community. In Public Safety, we care about each other.”

—Larry Chester, Intrado Inc.

Dear Vendors:

Georgia APCO and NENA have joined together once again to sponsor the Georgia Emergency Communications Conference, a joint training event and vendor exhibition. We came together in 2009 in response to concerns about the number of conferences conducted each year and the new economic reality in which we all find ourselves. Our goal is to provide the opportunity for our members to network with their colleagues at a single dynamic event each year.

Last year, we were proud to host the Georgia TAC Association and Georgia Crime Information Center as they provided training specific to Terminal Agency Coordinators from around the state. The addition of the GCIC track helped us realize a significant increase in the number of attendees at the conference. We are happy to welcome the TAC Association and GCIC back again this year. In addition, we have invited the Georgia Police Accreditation Coalition to join us and to provide training related to accreditation of both law enforcement and communications agencies.

In the past, both organizations have held separate training events (sometimes five a year) around the state, taxing the resources of both our public safety members and our corporate supporters. By combining our efforts, we can provide a higher level of quality and service to all our constituents, as well as attracting a more diverse attendance, from line-level Communications, Emergency Medical, and Emergency Management personnel to Directors, Commissioners, Sheriffs, TACs and everyone in between.

We are also extending an invitation to members of the Association of County Commissioners of Georgia and Georgia Municipal Association to attend the vendor exhibition. We have designed the agenda to maximize attendee exposure to you and your products.

We would like to invite you to register for the Georgia Emergency Communications Conference and Exhibition to be held the week of September 12-15, 2011. Enclosed in this packet is a wealth of information on the conference and vendor show. Our host, the Athens Classic Center has an outstanding facility that will allow us to provide you with a great show. We believe our plans will encourage participants to visit the vendor area throughout the day.

Please take a minute to look it over and let us know if you have any questions. We appreciate your continued support.

Sincerely,

Marcus Tomlin,
Joint Conference Chair and Vendor Liaison
